Getting started in Room 359

Essentials!

- The seating plan is on the side of the bookshelf, claim a free desk by writing your name down.

  - Note the back is reserved for PhDs
  - Your desk is yours for your degree so feel free to personalized it and make yourself feel comfy !

- Please email Kim at `kdorrell@unimelb.edu.au` and let her know who you are and who your supervisor is, so she can add you to the Astro mailing list, once you have claimed a desk.

- Swipe Access to the room can be gained by asking for an access form from reception on lv 1.

- The printer in the room can be connect via the IP address: `10.46.12.14`

Tips & Reminders

- Please lock the door if you are the last one to leave the room, no matter what time of the day. You can lock/unlock the door by double tapping the sensor

- Feel free the check out the bookshelf. People have worked hard to make sure it is organized and helpful, so please make sure to put things back to where they belong

- The astro group has a Slack channel, ask you supervisor to add you in

- For New Master students, check out this amazing GitHub by Nithin and Tong containing information on the requirement of completing the research part of your degree: `https://github.com/n-babu/unimelb-astro-msc`

- Katie also has a wonderful website with a bunch of useful resources related to astro for all levels whether you're master or PhD: `https://sites.google.com/view/unimelb-astro-resources/home`
